PROFILE

I graduated in Industrial Design Engineering and Product Development obtaining the extraordinary award for the best record.
I have combined part of my studies with university research, acquiring skills such as project management and teamwork.
I went through the technical itinerary of the degree, majoring on polymers, mechanical systems and rapid prototyping, but I have always had a special sensitivity for visuals.
I consider myself a versatile, responsible and proactive person, and currently I am actively looking for a position that allows me to continue growing professionally. You can see my portfolio online at sergioramon.es .
